

WINTER BASEBALL
LEAGUE PLANNEDSeveral Series Are Discussed as Possibilities After the City Championship.

El Paso baseball fans are to have a chance to see some more good baseball. The city championship series has not yet ended and the games are being well contested with the ultimate result of the series still an open question, though the soldiers had three victories to two for the Purities prior to this afternoon's game. It is possible that the series will be finished next Sunday.

Tra Bidwell, who managed a team in the El Paso baseball tournament five years ago, is in the city making arrangements for the appearance of the Kansas City "Leaguers" at El Paso park on Wednesday afternoon, October 20, against an all-star local team. The locals will likely be picked from the professionals in the city and the Army and Commercial leagues.

Team Looks Good.
Bidwell's team looks to be a fairly good one. There are a number of ex-major league stars and the remaining players have all made good in fast company. The pitchers are Kustenhaven, formerly with the Red Sox; Lambeth, of the Kansas City Federals, and Shimmell, one of the leading twirlers of the Western league. Bidwell, of the Kansas City Blues, will do the catching.

Turgeon plays first base, Crawford second, Kuster third and Russell third. Pratt in left, Falsben in center and Snider in right, comprise the outfield. Bidwell asserts that the team is a well balanced one and he is taking it to California for a series of games with all-star teams and with the champions of the Pacific Coast league. Games have already been booked at San Diego, Los Angeles, Bakersfield, Fresno, San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento and other cities.

McCluskey to Form Team.
The arrangements for the local game have been left in the hands of John J. McCluskey, and "Mac" asserts that he can field a team which will make Bidwell's leaguers know that they are in a real game.

From El Paso the leaguers will go to Douglas, Bismarck, Phoenix, Nogales and possibly Yuma. Mr. Bidwell leaves today for the west to complete his arrangements.

Chance for Special Series.
Following the city series there is a chance for a special series of five or seven games between an all-star Commercial league team, picked by Dr. T. J. McCamant, and the 20th infantry, should that team defeat the Purities in the present series. The soldiers state that if they win from the bakers, they will be only too glad to accommodate the doctor and let him know that he can get an all-star team from the other clubs in the Commercial circuit.

New Residents May Play.
The Seventh infantry and the Fourth field artillery are also watching the local baseball situation and if there is any prospect of a winter baseball league these two organizations will enter teams and make a six club circuit. The weather conditions have been ideal for baseball this month and it is thought that the national game can be played for several weeks yet. With the exception of California, the southwest is the only district attempting the summer game so late in the season and the games will be a great advertisement for the El Paso climatic conditions.

ARIZONA CAPTAIN TAKES THIRD PLACE IN SHOOT

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 12.—Sergeant J. E. Jackson, first regiment, national guard of Iowa, won the Winchester cup and the title of champion long range rifle shot here Monday, in the matches of the National Rifle association. Jackson, who was a member of the United States team which competed in the Olympic games at Stockholm in 1912, made 87 points out of a possible 100 for the shoot, which was for 20 shots at 1000 yards and with any make of rifle allowed. With the cup goes a gold medal and $25 in cash.

In the first stage of the marine corps match, Sergeant J. E. Jackson, first regiment, national guard of Ohio, was first, making a perfect score of 100. He was the only one of 252 entrants to make a perfect score.

First Lieutenant R. W. Wise, first cavalry, national guard of Massachusetts, was second, with 95. Capt. J. E. Noble, national guard of Arizona, was third, with 93. Wise being given preference because his perfect score lasted longer than did Noble's.

TEXANS GAVE FOSTER $150 FOR HIT
PUT BALL OVER FENCE; WON FLAG

Small Change Was Rained Upon Him When His Smash Brought Three Runs in Final Game Between Houston and San Antonio in 1912; Speaker, Also a Texan, Started Playing for $65 a Month and Board.

BY FRANK G. MENKE.

GEORGE FOSTER, the pitching star of the Red Sox, once got $150 in small change for smacking out a circuit swat. Foster was with Houston, in the Texas league in 1912. The final game of the season was played in Houston against the San Antonio team. There was a difference of only half a game between the clubs, and to the winner of that combat went the championship.

It seemed that the entire population of Houston was at that game, rooting for the home team to beat the San Antonio crowd of diamond stars. Well, the ninth inning came along—and the score was 2 to 0 in favor of San Antonio. It seemed to be all over but the formality of awarding the cup to the Houston boys.

The crowd waited—patiently with a feeling of despair pervading on their bosoms. The next man filed out and the third batter, attempting to sacrifice, popped to the pitcher. The fourth man poked out a puny grounder that should have been an easy out—but it wasn't because the infielder fumbled.

And Then George Did It.
With two men out, two on bases and three runs needed to win in the final inning, our little hero ambled to the plate and promptly smashed the ball over the fence, making the final count Houston, 2; San Antonio, 3—and winning for Houston the championship of the league.

When Foster trotted over the home plate he was greeted with a shower of silver and gold. His teammates assisted him in gathering together the "purses" that the frenzied fans were heaving at him, and when George got home and counted up his load of "junk" he found that it totaled $150.

Something like ten years ago, when Tris Speaker was playing amateur ball on the Texas lot, the manager of the Cleburne team in the North Texas league, saw him in action, sought him out and after the game said:

"I'd like to sign you up to play with my club. I'll pay you $65 a month and board. Think it over and let me know tomorrow."

Tris Couldn't Believe It.
That night Tris went home and told his folks about some "funny guy" kidding him.

"Said he'd give me 65 dollars a month—and board, too," said Tris. "That shows he was kidding." But the Cleburne manager wasn't. The next day he hunted up Tris.

"Well, what about my offer?" he asked.
"Oh, it listens good—it listens too darned good," answered Tris. "You can't kid me, mister."

"Kidding? Say, my boy," responded the Cleburne manager, "just to show you that I mean business I'll pay you $25 in cash the minute you sign the contract."

As he spoke the manager extracted a hunky roll of bills from his jeans. Tris took one look at the bundle, and then gasped:

"Gimme the contract—and gimme the pen—quick."

Moran Escaped Buzzer.
Pat Moran narrowly escaped going back to the bushes in 1919 and in 1915 he was slated for release by Charles Dooin, then manager of the Phillies.

It was in June 1919 that Charles Walcott Murphy, owner of the Chicago Cubs, asked for waivers on Moran, who was figured as excess baggage because the Cubs had Kline and Archer to do the catching chores.

Horace Finkel, then president of the Phillies, refused to waive on Moran, which made Murphy considerably peeved as Murphy had hoped that all clubs would waive and let him carry out his plan to sell Moran to the

"Y" CLASSES ARE RECEIVING DRILLS

The class work of the Y. M. C. A. is now in full swing and going strong. One of the most successful classes and one that promises to be the largest is the regular or young men's class, which is held on Monday and Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

The work in this class is adapted to the needs and desires of the young men in the offices, shops or business. The calisthenics and drill work is accompanied by lively music. The drills are all simple but vigorous enough to give the average man a good work-out. Athletics, comprising the high jump, broad jump, pole climb and running play a part in the evening's program. The gymnastics include elementary work on the horse, high bar, parallel, rings and mats. Indeed, this class is very popular with this class and at least two innings are played at every session. The most popular game, however, is basketball and the class session always closes with a fast period.

For full particulars regarding this class those interested should phone physical director A. L. Holm.

WOLGAST GETS DECISION OVER GENE DELMONT
Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 12.—Ad Wolgast, former lightweight champion, won a decision over Gene Delmont of Memphis in an eight round bout here Monday night. Delmont's lack of training was apparent.

PETER SCOTT WINS
WALNUT HALL STAKE

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 12.—After losing the first heat to Axtien, Peter Scott won the Walnut Hall $3000 stake and cup, the principal event of the grand circuit race program, Monday, taking the last three heats in easy style.

Nathan Axworthy, driven by "Pop" Gentry, broke so badly that he was distanced in the first heat.

Bingus Silk won the Lexington stake for two year old trotters in straight heats, from Harold Check and Adie Black.

Auto Zembro was an easy winner of the 2:08 pace. Although he lost the second heat to Lustrous McKinney, Loomis landed him in front at the wire in the first, third and fourth heats.

Get in the Game—"Roll Your Own"

When the umpire shouts, "Play Ball," light up a fresh-rolled "Bull" Durham cigarette and settle down to root for the home team—the one best way to enjoy a ball game, as millions of "fans" will testify.
